SUMMARY

A medium-sized barracks area is located on the west edge of Mukachevo (Figure 1). There has been only slight expansion (Areas J1, J2 and E) since World War II. Further expansion is limited by surrounding civilian residential areas.

This installation (Figures 2 and 3) reportedly houses the headquarters and major elements of a motorized rifle division. Twenty-six barracks and administration buildings, four probable warehouses, a possible gymnasium, three motor parks with storage and maintenance buildings, and an athletic field comprise the installation.

Vehicle storage and maintenance areas are extensive, although individual vehicles are not discernible. Considerable activity is evident in all areas.

The installation was covered by [] missions between July 1961 and September 1963.
